MINE HORROR.

Twenty-Six Burned to Death in a Mexican Mine.

The Survivors, Being Escaped Imprisoned, Direct Their Energy to Saving Property. All the Parties Responsible For the Management Under Arrest.

EAGLE PASS, TEX., June 8.—Full particulars of the Puente coal mine disaster as nearly as can be learned are as follows:

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, shortly after the locomotive left, the mine was discovered to be on fire, and smoke and flames were seen issuing out of the air shafts. About one-half of the fifty miners were working near the main tunnel, and these made their escape, leaving twenty-six of their number to perish from the heat and smoke and from the poisonous gases which spread like lightning to every portion of the mine. When it was seen that all efforts were useless to rescue the imprisoned miners, every energy was directed to saving the property from destruction.

A hand pump was placed in position on the Escondido river, pipes were laid into the mine as far as work could be done and hose attached and water poured into the burning timbers. A portable engine was speedily obtained from Piedras Negras, and in three hours the fire was under control. There were twenty-four chambers in the mine, and the dead miners are supposed to be still to the front of the mine.

At 10 o'clock Sunday one body had been recovered from the seventh chamber, and shortly after another, brought to the surface. The tenth chamber has been reached, and men with ropes tied to their bodies, to effect the rescue, are fighting their way to where the bodies of their dead comrades are lying. Superintendent George Spence ventured in too far and was overcome by heat and smoke. He was prostrated, but was rescued. It is believed that by Tuesday the mine will be cleared of the last and only chamber in which it is impossible to cope with, and that all the bodies will be recovered. All the miners employed were Mexicans and most of them have left destitute families.

It is reported that all the parties responsible for the management of the mines have been placed under arrest, pending an investigation of the cause of the disaster.

THE CHOLERA.

Who Shall Keep It Out of This Country? Denounces Bridge's Proposition, Declaring That Would-be Defenders Must Give Out of the U. S. Government.

OMAHA, Neb., June 8.—The last day's session of the National session of railroad surgeons proved to be the sensational one of the convention. After election officers and while the surgeons were preparing to quietly wind up their business, a heated discussion was suddenly precipitated. Cholera was at the bottom of the trouble, and finally the doctor gave Tammany a black eye by voting in favor of national control of quarantine regulations.

The discussion was on a paper by Dr. Chittwood, of Indiana, regarding quarantine of cholera. Dr. Louis of Kansas City, moved that the association extend to the quarantine officers of New York a vote of thanks for the efficient manner in which they maintained the health of the country at a time when the scourge seemed so near upon the whole country.

Dr. Thomas H. Manly, of New York, paid a fine tribute to Dr. Jenkins, of the post of New York, and spoke against national control. He contended that the state of New York, if left alone, would take care of the rest of the disease. Dr. Thom contended that this was a nation with a big N, and that it should look after the health of the country rather than the states in question of this kind.

Then Dr. Rogers, of Memphis, in an impassioned speech, favored the question being directly referred to the federal government. He asserted the port of New York was in the power of Tammany and of its most virile foe, yet.

Then Dr. Manly renewed his motion previously made to lay the matter on the table, and receiving a second, the convention, by a decided majority, refused to entertain such a proposition, and passed Dr. Thom's motion that the matter should be left to the general government. There was considerable applause.

SATOLI AT THE FAIR.

Lost in Wonder at the Spectacle. The Mexican Exhibit Open.

WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO, June 8.—The papal legate, Archbishop Satoli, accompanied by Archbishop Freehan, of Chicago, Father Thomas, of St. Ignace, and other Catholic clergymen, visited the World's fair Friday morning. The party arrived at the grounds in carriages. They entered the Midway Plaisance and were driven slowly that they might view the sights of the Midway. Passing into the fair proper the distinguished party was driven south along the lagoon, passing the women's building, horticultural, transportation and mines and mining.

A short stop was made at the Midway. Satoli and his party viewed the structure. Quite a stop was made on the administration plaza in front of the fountain. The fountain and the silver building with gold taken from its reserve. One does not need the eye of a financier to see that this gold thus subtracted from the government's stock is the purest of strong holding.

FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1893.

Marshal Blackburn broke camp at Central City last Wednesday and left for Louisville, this morning following a telegram from Judge Barr, of the United States Court here, to the effect that the county of Muhlenberg had deposited $5,000 to cover judgment and costs.

The War Department has decided to send the entire corps of cadets from West Point to Chicago, so that the regular army will have a creditable representation at the World's Fair, notwithstanding the failure of the effort to secure a grand military encampment there. The cadets will not go until the middle of August.

President Cleveland has announced that he will call Congress to meet not earlier than Sept. 1st, and not later than Sept. 15, unless an earlier meeting be necessitated by unforeseen emergencies. He says "the time is at hand when Congress will be called upon to deal with a financial condition which is the only menace to the country's welfare and prosperity," and that "the things just now needed are calmness and calmness in financial circles and a steady and judicious management of our people."

Several statesmen are engaged in drafting a bill which will endeavor to have Congress take administration measures. The most prominent of these is the bill drawn under the auspices of the New York Reform Club. It is squarely based upon the declaration of the Democratic platform at Chicago of tariff for revenue only. The bill drafted by the ways and means committee will doubtless be of a similar character. It is believed that the Administration will not offer a tariff bill nor interfere with the work of Congress in any way. If some method of special taxation for the payment of pensions is devised, the problem of tariff reduction will become easier of solution, as then the heroic treatment which the party in power has promised the tariff could be applied with greater safety.—Cincinnati Post.

The Effects of Free Coinage.

There is not a clear-headed business man in the country who does not know that the restoration of silver to the pedestal by means of a free coinage law will accomplish a moment what the silver purchase act has been slowly preparing. Gold will instantly go to a premium. There will be a rush for the gold reserve in the Treasury, forcing the government to suspend gold payments. Gold will cease to circulate, and there will, in consequence, be a sudden and violent contraction of the currency, not only because there will be less in point of volume, but that which remains will be less in point of purchasing power than it was when held up to the gold standard. That silver will presently adjust itself to the silver basis is true. But the losses and disasters and sacrifices which the contraction in the standard of value always brings with it are incalculable. As always they will fall most heavily upon persons of small means, the laboring-man, the farmer—not to speak of the savings-bank depositor and the pensioner—who have neither the knowledge nor the opportunity to take advantage of changing circumstances. This crisis will be a sad time for the good people who have been deluded into the belief that free coinage means "more money," and that "more money" means that government agents go around the country with big bags of silver dollars to put some of them into the pockets of all who need them. And after a time of disastrous disarrangement and distrust, the American people, subjected to their folly, will not fully work their way back to a policy which will put their necessary means once more in actual contact with the great sources of the national wealth.—Harper's Weekly.

What is to be done with the Sunday Valley road between the Dick McKee farm and Louisa? It is almost impassable, and we will add dangerous. There is quite a lot of grumbling, and unless two decent overhauls work their road immediately and sufficiently, the next grand jury will hear what some of the citizens have to say about the matter. There is no excuse for such roadways, and the old idea that the road is "too rough" is a little labor and some common sense will save them from trouble and expense, by seeing to it in season. "You never lose anything by being polite to the ladies."

"You don't, eh? Well you're not in it. The proprietor of the new restaurant down town has just purchased a fine sofa fountain of Chapman & Co. Mallory, Ltd., the same I see advertised in the Big Sandy News and I was polite enough to ask my lady friends up to take a drink, and the sofa was so allright nice I put a whole dollar bill before I could get away. Don't lose anything by politeness, eh?"

Well, it depends on whether there is a Chapman & Co. sofa fountain around or not."

THIS MEANS BUSINESS.

A Strong Milling Firm For Louisa.

The Louisa Milling Company has been organized at this place and has purchased the plant of the Louisa Roller Mills from Capt. M.
Freese. The stock subscribed is $10,000. The organization has been completed as follows: Maj. D. J.
Burchett, President; Col. Jay H.
Northrup, vice-President; and these in connection with Judge R. T.
Boris, Dr. H. S. Swetnam and J. T.
Leonard form the board of directors. The company is made up entirely of prominent local business men, who propose to run the business in a manner which will compete with the best. Their plant has modern machinery capable of turning out the very best work. The little repairs needed will be put on immediately. A large stock of grain has just been received and orders for anything in the milling line will be filled at once. Everything from the highest grades of flour down to all kinds of feed will be kept on hand in large quantities. Mr. Leonard, a practical miller of long experience and superior ability is in charge, and being a stockholder has the interests of the business thoroughly at heart. It is to the interest of this section that a first class mill shall be in constant operation at this point and it behooves our citizens and the people of the surrounding section to give it their patronage. This the firm asks only on the merits of their goods. Give them a trial and test the quality of their productions and the manner of their dealing.

Town Council.

resolution passed at a previous meeting releasing Sachs & Davis from paying poll tax was rescin-the finance committee present there was no report from that body.

160 Conversions

Since the beginning of the wonderful meetings held at this place by Miss Cartwright there have been 160 conversions up to the present time and the number of penitents is still very large. It is probably the most successful series of meetings ever held here. Mrs. Hughes, who was with Miss Cartwright to conduct the song service, was called home Wednesday by a telegram announcing the dangerous illness of her mother.

While in Cattlettsburg this week we were in Norris & York's new grocery store. It is in the building formerly used by the Big Sandy National Bank, and is the most attractive grocery store in town. The building is a substantial brick in the center of town and is owned by the firm, which is composed of Elsworth Norris, formerly of Louisa, and his nephew Josh York, also known here. Their many friends are glad to know of the decided success which their close attention to business and their straightforward manner of dealing has brought them. They have a large patronage.

There are always lots of suckers left, no matter how many are caught. The Ashland News says:
"Green goods men from Cincinnati and New York are both flooding this section at present with the circulars offering inducements that the unsophisticated are likely to bite at. All the talking one may do through the press will never be sufficient to prevent some such investments being made to the sorrow of the investor and the amusement of his countrymen, when it is known, as it has been known, that the amount of the surrounding country has been caught, but it will be no surprise to hear at any time that the act has been done to perfection."

A WEEK OFF

Kentucky Editors Have Their Annual Outing.

About two hundred persons in Kentucky of whom we know are just now engaged in the popular fad of "looking backward." They are the members of the Kentucky Press Association and the lady relatives and friends who accompanied them to Louisville and Chicago last week. From the time the date and programme of the annual meeting was announced, until the time rolled around, the country editor—if not his city brother—looked forward to it with pleasant anticipations. All we expected was realized and a great deal more.

We shall not attempt to fully describe our royal time, as it would be impossible to do it justice in any reasonable amount of space.

We feel safe in saying that no extension party which ever went out of Kentucky received more courtesies or more liberal treatment than this one, which assembled in Louisville on May 27th and proceeded to Chicago the next day.

The first meeting was held in the Commercial Club Hall in Louisville. In a polished address, spiced with rich sallies of humor, Dr. E.
R. Palmer, of the Commercial Club, welcomed the Association in a manner which made them feel that the city was theirs. Mr. Bowden, President of the Commercial Club, then got in a few good licks for Louisville as the site of the State Capital. He was followed by our worthy President C. M. Meacham, who very gracefully held up our end of the formal welcoming business. His address was extremely humorous, and this and his bald head caused him to be dubbed "Bill Nye." The magic badges, the street car checks and the return railroad tickets from Chicago were then distributed. In response to calls Col. Polk Johnson and Mr.
Emmett Logan made happy talks, the former in so doing, "breaking a pledge to his wife."

The members were next entertained at the Courier-Journal editorial rooms, where an elegant lunch was enjoyed. The visitors were shown through the magnificent establishment from basement to roof.

Next came the concert and supper at the beautiful Elmhurst, Bill Park in the evening. The musical program was short, but the choicest to be had from the city's eminent corps of vocalists and instrumental performers. The supper, which was an informal affair, arranged to allow us to fully enjoy the good things of the city, was certainly a delicious affair. The main cards contained in a laudable description under each dish, and on the outside was this advice: "Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you go to Chicago."

According to arrangements the members met on Tuesday at the depot, and at 8:30 a special train of four elegant palace cars pulled out, bearing only the Association party, which numbered nearly 200. J. A.
Davis and Gen. H. H. Hays rode to Chicago with the Association.

The quickest ever made, taken between the two cities, notwithstanding there was a considerable delay caused by a "hot box." A dining car was attached at Indianapolis and a superb meal served to all on board.
This was all free, the expense being borne by the Pennsylvania railroad line. Better service, faster trains or a smoother road are not found anywhere than this line has.
The Pennsylvania Company is one of the strongest and most enterprising and allows no other line to outdo it in any respect. The association will never forget Mr. Hag-gerly, the gentlemanly Louisville agent of the road.

IN CHICAGO.

Arriving in Chicago the association divided its number between the Ralmer House and the Great Western Hotel, where they were shown many attentions.

The members were not long in discovering the wand-like power of the tasteful red badges, which they wore in plain view. The badges bore simply, in bold black letters, "K. P. A." with a modest "1893," but before their potent charm the most obstinate door-keeper turned pale and fell back helpless, not recovering until we were comfortably seated within. It was a sight worth an admission fee to witness the efficacy of the badge which the famous Chicago zephyrs strove to wrest from the bosom of that bright meteor, Bob Morningstar, as he hustled about amongst the "pay" shows in the Midway Plaisance, with the association at his heels, looking for managers and then overlooking doorkeepers.

We saw, free of cost, every show around the grounds, including Buffalo Bill's Wild West, and most of them were visited upon special invitation. Many of the leading theaters of the city and all the magnificent panoramas extended the same courtesies. We were also supplied with passes to the World's Fair grounds.

On Wednesday a meeting was held at the Kentucky building, after which a sumptuous dinner was served. Mr. Sam J. Roberts, of the Lexington Leader, was elected President of the Association for the ensuing year and Mr. I. B. Nail was promoted from secretary to

MONROE RAILROAD.
The return tickets over the famous Monroe route were good to bring us home as late as the 15th inst., but nearly, if not quite all the members were called back by their business at the close of the week.

We found the Monroe elegant in all its appointments, a first class road in every respect. The long journey is made really pleasant by the superior service it affords. Mr.
Crush, the Louisville agent, was very solicitous for the comfort and welfare of the editorial party, and thereby won their lasting gratitude.

Those are briefly the outlines of a highly enjoyable outing of a lot of hard worked editors, who have already begun another year's grinding.

NOTES.

For the next few weeks we shall give our readers something about the World's Fair, but promise to administer it in broken doses small enough to be safe.

Even the bold, bad Chicago fakir looked upon the badge as invincible and not one of our gang was "foolish."

The badges attracted considerable attention, and in answer to a query as to the meaning of "K.
P. A." one of the members answered that it signified that we "Kant Pay Anything." Well, at any rate, we d. p. a.

New Law as to State College Appointments.

A new law is now in effect regarding county appointees to courses in the State College at Lexington. Each county is allowed to send one person, each year, free of expense for traveling, tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and lights. The conditions are that the appointee shall have a certificate of good moral character by the county citizens; shall be between fourteen and twenty-four years old, and shall have completed the common school course; preference being given to young men or women whose means are limited.

The new law also allows four appointees from each county to the Normal course under about the same requirements as given above for the College course. Those desiring to attend the A. & M. College will do well to look into it.

Graduation and Competition Examinations.

An examination of applicants for certificates of graduation in the common schools will be held at Fallsburg, Lawrence county, on Friday, June 18th. Also, at the same time and place, a competition examination of applicants for county appointment to the State College will be held. Persons between the ages of fourteen and twenty-four are eligible to the latter examination.
